Teaching & Learning Center

Program Schedule Fall 2005

What's "New and Not-So-New": Making the Most of Learning Support Services for Your Students.

- Thursday, September 29th
- 12:30-2:00 p.m.
- Union Bldg Music Room
- Refreshments provided!
- Register for this session by September 25th (zelley@lasalle.edu)

Today's student population is more diverse than ever, making it increasingly difficult for professors to meet various students needs. Learn more about some of the new and not-so-new learning support services that La Salle offers and eliminate some popular myths about student support programs.

This session will focus on peer tutoring, the new Tutortrack system, writing support, and freshman support.*

Conducting Research with Human Subjects: IRB Issues, Recruiting Ideas, & Student Researchers

- Wednesday, October 12th
- 3:30-5:00 p.m.
- Union Bldg Music Room
- Refreshments provided!
- Register for this session by October 7th (zelley@lasalle.edu)

There are a myriad of issues surrounding research and data collection with Human Participants. With an increased focus on faculty-student research, many professors and students are unsure where to begin or what legal requirements must be met.

This roundtable discussion will focus on using the IRB (Institutional Review Board), recruiting and using human participants, and having students conduct research for class projects. Faculty, TA's, and graduate students are invited to attend.*

Reading & Writing Across the Curriculum: Teaching Students Discipline-Specific Literacy (Part 1 in a Two-Part Series)

- Tuesday, November 8th
- 3:30-5:00 p.m.
- Union Bldg Music Room
- Refreshments provided!
- Register for this session by November 3rd (zelley@lasalle.edu)

Do your students truly understand your discipline? Do they know how to read and write in the genre specific to your discipline? Discipline-specific literacy is difficult to achieve. Learn more about why and how instructors can assist student development.

This program will focus on the intricacies of discipline-specific reading and writing.*

Do you have an idea for a TLC session or series? If so, send your suggestions to Elaine D. Zelley, coordinator of faculty development (zelley@lasalle.edu).

Education Conference: What the Best Teachers Do

November 5th, 2005

La Salle University

What makes a great teacher great? Who are the teachers, students remember long after graduation? The short answer is--it's not what teachers do, it's what they understand. Lesson plans and lecture notes matter less than the special way teachers comprehend the subject, and value human learning. The best teachers know their subjects inside and out--but they also know how to engage and challenge students in order to provoke impassioned responses. Most of all, they believe two things fervently: teaching matters and students can learn.

Sign up for a day of exploration and entertainment as we look at what the best teachers do. This exclusive one-day workshop will take place on November 5th, 2005 on the La Salle University campus.

- 8:00-9:00 Check-in with continental breakfast
- 9:00-11:00 Key-note speaker
- 11:00-12:00 Box lunches and book signing
- 12:00-1:30 Break out sessions

Keynote Speaker:

Kenneth R. Bain (Ph.D., University of Texas at Austin, 1976) is founding Director of the Center for Teaching Excellence at New York University. His scholarship includes an interest in teaching and learning issues. Internationally recognized for his insights into teaching and learning, and for a fifteen-year study of what the best educators do, he has presented invited workshops at more than one hundred universities in recent years--in the United States, Canada, Europe, Asia, Africa, and Australia. His learning research has concentrated on a wide range of issues, including deep and sustained learning and the creation of natural critical learning environments. His recently-published book What the Best College Teachers Do. (Harvard University Press, 2004) won the 2004 Virginia and Warren Stone Prize for an outstanding book on education and society.
